

DAILY CANDY

November 15, 2005

Final Fantasy

Ah, if only life were chockful of rainbows and unicorns. Instead, yours seems to be filled with bills you can't pay and an unsatisfying relationship.

Chin up, doll face. At least you can have a Space Mermaid. Yes, that's right.

Stephanie Carbone's colorful line of whimsical jewelry is aptly named after the imaginary creature, and the pieces evoke the feeling you get when you let your imagination run wild.

Made of semiprecious stones, sterling silver, freshwater pearls, crystals, shells, and other natural materials, the pieces are just the thing for a bit of fantasy. The Rainbow Faerie ring will bring out your more ethereal qualities. Sea Horse earrings or the Sea Treasure necklace will unleash your inner Ariel. And with the Cherry Blossom necklace around your neck, you'll feel as special as Cinderella at the ball.

But unlike fairy tales, this stuff isn't imaginary.

Besides, who needs a Prince Charming when your own charms are so irresistible?

